This season, textures and patches were some of the most seen trends around the globe. One can give a patchy touch to one's plain interiors with neon accents, bold colours and soft pastels. Accent wall designs paired with creative textures, colours and patterns are modern trends in interior decoration. Patchwork floor design can add that extra style statement to a space. The simplicity of the warm and soothing pastels like peaches and creams can be highlighted with the bold patterns like floral, gingham checks or asymmetric stripes. For example, a signature wood-textured wall to give a tranquil feel and natural gleam to a space. Signature walls can be complemented with warm metals such as rose gold, brass, copper and gold. Veneered wood is stable and beautiful, yet environmentally kind and they come in myriad designs and patterns. They not only give a natural, raw look but they can also be used in colourful ways; whether one wants teak or walnut or simply the wild smoky

BLING IS THE NEW KING!

If one is keen on reflecting their inner glitter and sheen on to their floors and walls, they can gloss them up with lustrous lacquer or varnished wood. A signature glossy wall is what one needs in offices and other commercial spaces to prep them up. A glossy wall or flooring is best when it's paired with the right lighting because that's what can actually change the game. To give a space a classy touch, one can make a real statement by making just one cherished piece appear a notch brighter than the rest of the space. Glossy laminates are best when it comes to class and style; also, they come in a wide range of colours- ranging from quirky pastels to wild oak, raw walnut and untamed teak, and these are also resistant to scratches, scuff and abrasion. Laminates are on top spot when it comes to appeal and maintenance. ▲
